Accenture Capability Network
Poland

Andrea di Pietro: Managing Director – Accenture Capability Network Lead

Based out of Warsaw, Poland

The Polish node of the Capability Network, first of all, is the biggest in Europe and is strategic for the Capability Network. By the way, we are in Warsaw today, where we have the leadership team meeting for two days. The European Node—in particular Poland—is a large set of our capabilities and we serve at the moment 22 countries, so we are sending our members to work onshore, client-facing, in 22 countries. We also serve the local practice. We have people working in Poland, but they are something around 10% of our workforce.

The Polish Node is growing fast. This is important because we offer many opportunities for our people to grow. Also, what is relevant and for me very interesting, is that we see how our Polish members are appreciated around Europe in terms of performance and ability to adapt to local cultures. To succeed in the Capability Network in Poland you should be smart, ambitious, flexible, and able to adapt to different cultures. So this is key. You can really start an international career with the Capability Network.
