

Meet Neha

I was always acting; I was always on stage and loved it. And for me, that's where I really get to use my acting experience and telling stories.

I get to talk to clients about what we're doing, and say here's a journey we are on, and let's take that journey together. because the only way this is going to be successful is if we do this as partners.

For me it's just a very, very exciting job. It's an exciting time to be part of Accenture security because we are getting to do all these exciting things and change the entire industry.

My name is Neha Joshi and I am the digital identity offering lead at Accenture.

BE YOURSELF, MAKE A DIFFERENCE.
