Accenture Capability Network
Italy

Luigi Solbiati: Managing Director – Capability Network Lead, Italy.

Based out of Milan, Italy

In the context of Capability Network, the Italy node represents a very specialized management consulting team, specialized in function and industry, with also the ability to work internationally, mainly in North America and in Europe.

Within Capability Network, Italy is a special place to work because you can develop your expertise in a few functions and industry; those options, between working for domestic client and international client. The main difference between working for the local consulting practice and Capability Network in Italy is the ability to work for international clients, traveling in Europe and globally, and developing deep expertise on some functions and industries.

The advice that we give to the people wanting to join the Capability Network in Italy is to develop passion for problem solving, work collaboratively to develop client relationships on an international level, and deepen a collaboration with colleagues on a global basis.
