MEET BEN

I really like running it's another game of speed but it's also one where you have to balance. I'm training for my first marathon so, as I'm training I really want to get excited and run fast but at the same time I know that I have an, an end goal that I want to get to.

Journey to Cloud is a big business priority for Accenture and I'm right in the thick of that. I help a client understand how they might get to the Cloud, whether a Cloud even makes sense for them. I'll go to that client site understand where they're coming from and then I'll have a fresh perspective when I get back with the team to get that done. It's all about getting to the next level.

I'm Ben, I'm a Cloud advisor consultant at Accenture.
