3 in 4 citizens want government technology leaders to do more.

90% of government executives see innovation as an important part of their day to day jobs and leadership responsibilities.

Yet new Accenture research shows just 8% of governments are innovation leaders.

We studied the leaders to understand what set them apart?

Get ready to unleash innovation