

COOLEST JOB EVER MEET ALSTON

VIDEO TRANSCRIPT

Hey guys this is Alston Brown. I am a senior analyst in Accenture Strategy. I joined Accenture in 2016 after graduating from the University of Pennsylvania and I really look forward to sharing with you my day-to-day as a Strategy Analyst at Accenture.

Here on my morning commute, here at Grand Central Station. I'm about to hop on a train, take it to the suburbs of New York City, about 45minutes. I'll grab some coffee, get some work done on the train and I'll be good to go for the week.

A lot of what we do is work collaboratively among our team and clients to drive towards an agreed upon solutions. And as an analyst a lot of what we do is provide the backbone for our recommendations. So whether that be the business case impacts of our recommendations or explaining the strategy in a presentation to our clients. At the end of the day we're all just working to provide a highly impactful solution for the clients that we're here to solve as consultants.

Hey guys, just having a little dinner here with my ASCDP buddy Rebecca and our MBA interns who are leaving this week. Say bye, we're going to miss them.

Hey guys I'm here in Union Square Park, just wrapped up one my lazy Sunday activities which is record shopping. I definitely like to keep it diverse in my music choices. Which is a convenient transition into talking about what I love so much about Accenture, which is the diverse range of people that work here.

Everyone has a lot of very different backgrounds, very different previous experiences but what really bonds everyone together is a sense of positivity, collaboration and passion for what they do. Both inside and outside of work.