Why I Joined Accenture

Introducing Kelly Bissell, Managing Director Accenture Security

Kelly Bissell, Managing Director Accenture Security: My vision for Accenture Security is to be the best security company in the world period. I want to make sure that we're serving our clients in the best way so that they come to us, to help them with their complex problems. And I think Accenture's uniquely poised to actually help solve this problem. Accenture not only advises, they implement, they help clients manage their operations for security and they innovate like nobody else. No one in the world can do these four points like Accenture can, so I'm really excited about taking the next step with Accenture and building something no one can do.
